BIG NEWS!

AFTER 30 YEARS — NEW ASMBS/IFSO GUIDELINES ON INDICATIONS FOR METABOLIC AND BARIATRIC SURGERY 2022 BRINGS NEW WINS FOR WEIGHT- LOSS SURGERY

NEWBERRY, FL - FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE OCTOBER 21, 2022 - MEDICAL GROUPS REPLACE OUTDATED CONSENSUS STATEMENT THAT OVERLY RESTRICTS ACCESS TO MODERN-DAY WEIGHT-LOSS SURGERY

"We always welcome the collaboration and endorsement with other Societies... we have built bridges and we are partners together in treating this disease." Dr. Teresa LoMasters, ASMBS President, 2022-2023

"This today is just step #1. Absolutely we will share this with anybody who is willing to sit down with us and talk about it." Dr. Scott Shikora, IFSO President, 2022-2024

NEW PATIENT SELECTION STANDARDS — TIMES HAVE CHANGED!

- Recommend MBS for BMI 35 or more
- Considered MBS for BMI 30-34.9 and metabolic disease and specific adolescents
- Consider MBS BMI 27.5 or more for Asian patients

- Meiabolic and buriatric surgery (MBS) is recommended for individuals with a body man index (BMI) ≥ 35 kg/m², regardless
- ## presence, absence, or severity of co-morbidities.

 MUS should be considered for individuals with metabolic disease and BMI of 30-34.9 kg/m².
- MUS should be considered for individuals with metabolic disease and BMI of 30.14.9 kg/m².
 BMI thresholds should be adjusted in the Asian population such that a BMI ≥25 kg/m² suggests coincid obesity, and indi-
- valuals with BMI 237.5 kg/m² should be offered MBS.

 Long term results of MBS consistently demonstrate safety and efficacy.
- Appropriately selected shildren and adolescents should be considered for MRS.
